DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to the claims filed 01/05/2011.

Election/Restrictions - Combination and Subcombination

2. Prosecution of claims has resulted in amended claims which require restriction as indicated below. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 3-8, 10, 14, 15, 17, 18, 23-26, and 28-36, drawn to generic use of a metadata request using a unique identifier which involves calculating a hash value for an application based at least in part on the icon data, sending the first value in a database query to a database; receiving one or more responses from the database; obtaining from the one or more responses a globally unique identifier for the application, wherein the globally unique identifier differs from the hash value; sending the globally unique identifier in a metadata request; and in response to the metadata request, receiving metadata associated with the application. Note that in claim 29, the fact that the method steps are applied to "games" does not functionally change the operation of the method (as currently claimed). As such, claim 29 is grouped with invention I.
 - II. Claims 37-40, drawn to a gaming activity center which involves of querying a database for information pertaining to a software application installed on a computer system: generating a hash value with a hashing algorithm; sending a query for a globally unique identifier for the software application to the database, the query comprising the first application identifier; receiving a response to the query from the database, wherein the response comprises an indication of whether the software application is of a particular application type (gaming for example) and the globally unique identifier for the software application, sending a metadata request to a metadata service, the query comprising the globally unique identifier; receiving metadata for the software application in response to the metadata request; and displaying information from the response to the query from the database along with the metadata received in response to the metadata request in a window of a graphical user interface along with information for one or more other software applications of the particular application type; wherein the application type is game, and wherein the metadata service is a games metadata service, and wherein the window of the graphical user interface is part of a gaming activity center.

3. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the identification of a particular application type as returned from a metadata request is not required for the operation of Invention I. The subcombination has separate utility such as a gaming activity center as claimed in Invention II.

4. The examiner has required restriction between combination and subcombination inventions. Where applicant elects a subcombination, and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

No telephone interview was conducted due to complexity of the restriction requirement and since the examiner knows from past experience that an election is seldom made by the applicant over the telephone. (see MPEP 812.01)
